

Privacy/Legal

Fidlar Technologies (“Fidlar Technologies”) reserves the right to modify all or some of this Privacy and Legal Policy at any time without notice. If we change our Privacy and Legal Policy, we will post a notice on our website. We will use information only in accordance with the Privacy and Legal Policy under which the information was collected unless we have received explicit authorization from the appropriate user(s) to do otherwise.

If you have any questions about this Privacy and Legal Policy, the practices of this website or your dealings with Fidlar Technologies, please send an email to support@fidlar.com.

PRIVACY POLICY

Fidlar Technologies is committed to respecting your right to privacy while using our site. This Privacy Policy contains information regarding our privacy practices for the entire Fidlar Technologies site.

1. Information Collection and Use. Fidlar Technologies is the sole owner of the customer information collected on this site. We will not share this information in any ways other than those disclosed in this statement. Fidlar Technologies collects information from our users at several points on our website.
2. Information Requests. Throughout our site, you are provided with the opportunity to contact us via email to ask questions, request information and materials, register for online presentations and demonstrations, or provide comments and suggestions. You may also be offered the opportunity to have one of our representatives contact you to provide information about our products or services. We may request additional personal information from you, such as your name and telephone number, to help us satisfy your request.
3. Cookies. A cookie is a piece of data stored on a user’s hard drive, containing information about the user. Usage of a cookie provides user benefits and is in no way linked to any personally identifiable information. For example, by setting a cookie on our site, you would not have to enter your password more than once. If you reject the cookie, you may still use our site, though some areas may be functionally limited. For example, you will not be able to take full advantage of our mailing list subscription tools. Cookies also enable us to track and target the interests of our users to enhance the on-site experience.
4. Log Files. Our website servers generate standard traffic log files. We use these files to prepare aggregate traffic statistics for our site. There is no personally identifiable information in these log files. We use IP addresses and cookie values to analyze trends, administer the site, track users’ movements, and gather broad demographic information to improve the performance of our site.
5. Requested Services and Product Evaluations. We communicate with our users to provide requested services, product evaluations, and in regard to issues relating to their account via email or phone.
6. Mailing Lists. Users are offered the option of subscribing to relevant mailing lists at various other locations throughout the site for reasons of user convenience only. All new mailing list subscribers will receive a welcome email verifying subscription information. Fidlar Technologies’ mailing lists are “receive-only” lists for announcements regarding Fidlar Technologies products, services, or promotions. It is not necessary to subscribe to any Fidlar Technologies mailing list to use our website or purchase our products.

7. Security. Our website takes every precaution to protect our users’ information. When a user submits sensitive information, it is protected both online and offline. Where our registration/order form requires sensitive information, that information is encrypted with SSL, the best encryption software in the industry. While on a secure page such as our order form, the lock icon on the bottom of Web browsers such as Mozilla Firefox and Microsoft Internet Explorer becomes locked, as opposed to unlocked or open.
8. Suppliers. We may outsource certain services required to deliver Fidlar Technologies. The companies that perform these services do not retain, share, store or use personally identifiable information for any secondary purposes.
9. Links. This website contains links to other sites. Please be aware that Fidlar Technologies is not responsible for the privacy practices of other sites. We encourage our users to be aware when they leave our site, and to read the privacy statements of each and every web site that collects personally identifiable information. This privacy statement applies solely to information collected by the Fidlar Technologies website.
10. Choice/Opt-in. Our users are given the opportunity to “opt-in” to having their information used for purposes not directly related to our site at the point where we ask for the information. For example, our newsletter form has an “opt-in” mechanism to add their email address to our lists for receiving marketing materials. We only add users to our lists when they expressly agree to be added. Users of our site are always notified when their information is being collected by any outside parties. We do this so our users can make an informed choice as to whether they should proceed with services that require an outside party, or not.
11. Opting Out. Periodically, Fidlar Technologies notifies our users of new products, announcements, upgrades, and updates. If at anytime you would prefer not to receive these notifications, simply email support@fidlar.com and type “unsubscribe from newsletter” in the subject line. Please be aware that you may not opt out of receiving information regarding the initial use, evaluation, or expiration of our products or services.
12. Notification of Changes. If we change our privacy policy, we will post notification of those changes on our homepage so our users are aware of changes to the information we collect, how it is used, and under which circumstances, if any, it is disclosed. If at any point we decide to use personally identifiable information in a manner different from that stated at the time it was collected, we will notify users by email. Users will have a choice as to whether or not we use their information in this different manner. We will use information in accordance with the privacy policy under which the information was collected.
13. Questions. If you have questions, or if you feel we are in violation of this privacy policy, please email support@fidlar.com.
